EXPERIENCE SUMMARY

RICHARD ELOVICH, a research scientist at the Institute for Social and Economic Research and Policy (ISERP) at Columbia University, holds a Ph.D. in medical sociology and a Masters in Public Health. He is a specialist in policy and program development on HIV/AIDS and substance use with over fifteen years experience in the U.S. and internationally. Since 2003, he has led needs assessments and developed HIV programs for international donors, UN agencies, and non-governmental organizations throughout the former Soviet Union and Asia, with a particular focus on most at risk populations. In New York, he was Director of HIV Prevention for GMHC, the oldest and largest non-governmental AIDS organization in the U.S. He is an experienced advocate, having been appointed to the Mayor's HIV Planning Council of New York City, and chairing its substance abuse services work group from 1991-1996. Elovich was an organizer of underground needle exchange programs in New York City and San Juan, Puerto Rico. He has been a full-time instructor in the Urban Public Health program at Hunter College's School of Health Sciences, City University of New York. In 2008 he was awarded the Marisa De Castro Benton Prize by Columbia University for distinguished scholarship and research and outstanding contribution to the sociomedical sciences.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

2005-Present Consultant, Drug Treatment, Harm Reduction, and HIV Prevention

Program and policy development for clients including the United Nations Development Program, UK Department for International Development, Population Services International, International Harm Reduction Development Program of the Open Society Institute, International HIV/AIDS Alliance, and national programs in Indonesia, Nepal, Uzbekistan, Kyrgyzstan, and other countries of Asia and the former Soviet Union. Special areas of expertise: HIV/STD prevention for injecting drug users, youth at risk, men who have sex with men and vulnerable families, as well as drug dependence treatment and support services for substance using populations (see below for select consultancies).

2003-2005 Senior Consultant, Drug Demand Reduction Program, Central Asia

Lead consultant for USAID-funded drug demand reduction program operated by Alliance for Open Society International (AOSI) and the International Harm Reduction Development Program (IHRD) in Uzbekistan, Tajikistan and Kyrgyzstan. Responsibilities included authorship of comprehensive needs assessment, development of low-threshold treatment readiness and rehabilitation programs, and creation of a unique identifier system for program monitoring and evaluation. Directed professional development programs including recruitment and supervision of international faculty, creation of training program for drug counselors, and design and implementation of month-long summer institute for psychologists, psychiatrists, and drug demand reduction program directors. With Stephen E. Lankenau, Ph.D., created curriculum for and co-taught short course on ethno-epidemiological methods for university researchers working with drug users in natural settings.

- 1996-1999 Director, HIV Prevention, Gay Men's Health Crisis (GMHC)
Responsible for the reorganization, development, implementation and management of all HIV prevention services and campaigns at the world's oldest and largest non-governmental AIDS organization. Created individual, group, and community level interventions, and successfully secured state and federal funding. Oversaw 23 staff, volunteer corps of 800, and a budget of $3 million. Responsible for programs including: Youth and Young Adult Initiative; Substance Use Counseling and Education; Latino MSM Initiative; Black MSM Initiative; Women's Program; and Beyond 2000, a successful effort to recruit and mobilize over 2000 men to become involved in HIV prevention.
- As a nationally recognized expert in harm reduction, substance use and HIV prevention, made numerous media appearances, and conference presentations and authored articles, curricula, and education materials for the New York State Department of Health AIDS Institute, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the New York City Department of Health, and the New York State Office of Alcohol and Substance Abuse Services.
- 1994-1996 Director, Substance Use Counseling and Education, GMHC
Secured funding for, implemented and managed substance use education and clinical services. Program elements included educational materials and campaigns, workshops, individual assessments, short-term individual and group counseling, an acupuncture clinic, and peer education training and support. Recruited, trained and supervised 15 staff, and 50 volunteers and consultants. Developed counseling curricula and substance use policies agency-wide. Assisted in the development of program evaluations and co-authored a program manual for use by other community organizations. Supervised staff trainings at organizations throughout New York City on harm reduction and substance use counseling skills.
- 1991-1997 Appointed Member, New York City Mayor's HIV Planning Council
Chairperson, Alcohol and Other Drug Services Work Group
Member, Executive Committee
Chaired the Alcohol and other Drug (AOD) Services work group to determine service priorities for New York City's use of federal AIDS funding under the Ryan White Comprehensive AIDS Emergency Act. Advocated for and disbursed more than $35 million in funds for city substance abuse programs. Facilitated discussion among City and State agency representatives, service providers, advocates and consumers to develop new program models and proposals. As an Executive Committee member, met regularly with City and State agencies to determine work group funding priorities. Monitored and assessed efficiency of program administration, and participated in strategic planning. Represented the Planning Council in AOD service-related meetings with City, State and Federal officials.
- 1992-1995 Teacher, ARRIVE/Exponents, Inc. AIDS Education and Training Program
Developed curriculum on harm reduction and taught it annually to over five hundred recovering addicts, former prisoners, peer educators and substance abuse counselors at New York City non-profit organization.
- 1991-1994 Policy Officer, Substance Use and HIV Prevention, GMHC
Developed public policy and advocacy strategies to develop and implement new models of substance use and HIV treatment. Created and helped consolidate coalitions of HIV and substance abuse service providers, as well as community networks of former substance abusers, to respond to policy challenges. Developed consensus statements, gave testimony, organized community meetings and coalitions to increase awareness of the service needs of drug users in and out of recovery.

- 1990-1992 Co-Founder, ACT UP/NY Needle Exchange Program
Co-founded a program providing sterile injection equipment and operated entirely by volunteers to reach injection drug users in the Morris Heights\Highbridge section of the Bronx, East Harlem, Manhattan's Lower East Side, and the Bushwick and Williamsburg sections of Brooklyn. Created model of service delivery including: syringes, bleach kits, condoms, bilingual instructions for cleaning works, and information about safer sex practices. With the Latino Caucus of ACT UP and local activists, helped develop a needle exchange program in "La Perla," San Juan, Puerto Rico. As one of eight AIDS activists arrested for challenging the State law criminalizing needle possession was pro se defendant and argued successfully for acquittal in Manhattan Criminal Court (June 1991).
- 1988-1990 Member, ACT UP/NY Treatment and Data Committee
Participated in meetings with government officials to speed drug approval process for people living with AIDS. Facilitated community meetings with representatives of the National Institutes of Health, including its AIDS director. Participated in demonstrations at the Food and Drug Administration in 1988, at the New York Stock Exchange in 1989, at New York University Medical Center, in Albany and at City Hall. Represented ACT UP at conferences sponsored by the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) Advisory Committee for the Prevention of HIV Infection, at the Alcohol, Drug Abuse and Mental Health Administration (ADAMHA), and at a CDC conference on Prevention of HIV Among High-Risk Youth sponsored by the Advisory Committee on the Prevention of HIV.
